

OUR TOWN

The census enumeration of scholastics in Milam County will close on April 1. It is important that every available child be listed in the aggregate of the eligible school population for each community. Lack of co-operation on the part of the parents or lax methods of the enumerators, if any, would cost the county heavily in its apportionment of free school money. Mrs. K. K. Robbins, county superintendent, says that in 1925 the census aggregate showed the scholastic population to have been 1000 under the previous year thereby costing the county $14,000 in loss of state apportionment of funds. A loss in scholastic population is hardly probable under the increase in people for Milam County. Population census will not sustain a loss in scholastics.

For every child not enumerated in the returns for scholastic population the county school system will lose $14. Hence the necessity for protecting the financial interest of the school system. There are other reasons of relative importance why the enumeration should be complete. To show any number less than the actual number of school children residing in the county is an injustice to the county and there is the eternal satisfaction of having done a thing well, providing not only a maximum of financial aid and insuring education for the children but enlisting that active interest so necessary for the success of a well ordered school system.

Many have said we must have another contest for the old fiddlers. Several thousand people came to Cameron and were unable to gain entrance to the auditorium. The folks seem to be hungry for old time music and the democratic social traditions that cluster about the old fiddlers and their kind of entertainment. Judging from the spontaneous commotion of the Legion by citizens it is certain that the contest broke all records for public approval and we trust that at some convenient future date another may be held at which accommodations for hearing for all who attend will be provided.

Without adequate information at hand we are unable to determine an approximately correct tabulation of the cost to payers of insurance as a result of the 15 per cent penalty imposed because of certain fire losses accruing over a period of 3 years. But it is certain that the sums now required to be paid over the period of the imposition will run to many thousands annually. Others have said the annual toll for the insurance coffers will be about $12,000 while others contend that the sum will be greater. At the minimum estimate over the period of three years, during which time the city may under the law gain back its credits, the cost will run $36,000.

A pronounced disagreement as to both the legality and the justice of this charge is noticeable throughout the state. In this estimate of the law this column thoroughly agrees. We believe insurance should be written on a basis of rates demanded by individual hazards and that no city or town should be universally penalized in all classifications of risks because perchance in a single fire the loss in money will go over the maximum allowed to maintain credits. The maintenance of proper equipment to combat fire seems to operate fully against those towns possessing none but niggardly for those towns possessing much. Because certain fire losses are heavy does not in the least lessen the efficiency or decrease the facilities for fighting fire. Losses are more often sustained in circumstance rather than by lack of general protection and because property of one classification carrying extra hazard burns is no good reason to put a penalty on property of less hazard risk. The net result of the penalty, although of course supported by other claims, is to put money into the pockets of insurance companies who sustain losses that they may collect them back in increased rates. It operates almost to the point of eliminating all risks in insurance.

Life and literature need the inspiration which idealism quickens and promotes. The history of thought shows that a people given to sensational and the lower forms of materialism have run to ruin. Only that which inspires life and nobility of

"PHANTOM AXEMAN" ARRESTED AT SOMERVILLE

Cameron Florist Will Open Greenhouse Saturday

STYLE REVUE ATTRACTS HUNDREDS TO AUDITORIUM

BLACK CAPTURED WILL BE RETURNED TO CITY

MUST ANSWER CHARGE OF ASSAULT WITH AXE ON NEGRO WOMAN

M. C. McGowan, negro, who has evaded the sheriff for more than three weeks, running at large and terrorizing negroes in the woodlands east of Cameron, has been arrested.

The black to be returned here for trial and probably to be adjudged insane, was arrested by a deputy sheriff at Somerville late Wednesday night.

Sheriff L. L. Blaylock will go to Somerville Friday to return the negro to the Milam County jail.

Milam County's phantom axe man is still at large.

After an all night hunt with a number of deputies Tuesday night sheriff L. L. Blaylock was no nearer a capture of this mad man than he was three weeks ago when he was called to Milano to investigate the attack made on a negro woman with an axe as she lay in the bed sleeping.

The phantom axeman is a negro thought to be mad or insane. He has been able to elude officers in their three weeks of effort to catch him. He selects the night as his time to go among the negro huts on the bottom farms to terrorize them.

At different times during the day light phone messages have come into the sheriff's office that the negro has been seen on the public highway but so far the officers have not been able to find him.

Negro farmers have come in in bunches to ask the sheriff for protection. They are alarmed for they know not what hour of the night they will feel the keen blade of an axe.

The negro was in jail here at one time about two months ago. The officers took a German automatic pistol from him.

Officers believe the negro is not insane, pointing to the fact that he has been able to evade all searches for him, yet appearing at night time in the community in which search was made for him that day.

The would be axe slayer crawled through a window of the negro cabin near Milano and with a two bladed axe chopped the body of a negro woman as she lay sleeping. Bed clothing near the head of her husband was slashed as the axe was used in another blow to end the life of the man.

The mad man was heard shrieking as he ran through the woods. The bloody axe is the only clue.

The country being scratched is most wood lands where one who has a knowledge of the wilds could hide indefinitely.

It appears it will be necessary to take large posses of men and go into the woodlands and comb the thickets for the negro. Officers fear he may murder a number of people before he is captured.

Man Held For Sheriff Safe Blower Wanted

Upon information received from the Sheriff's department at Palestine, J. M. Yoakum was arrested Wednesday morning on the highway below Maysfield by Sheriff Blaylock. Yoakum was traveling in a truck, and is wanted in Palestine on a charge of blowing up a safe with nitro-glycerine Tuesday night it is alleged. He was arrested and placed in jail awaiting the arrival of the sheriff at Palestine.

thought can maintain and preserve itself from speedy and ignoble decay. And we have too palpable evidence of corruption, public and private, to leave us in doubt as to the tendency of not a little of the cultivation and teachings in our times.

CAPT. GARRETT A. WHITE

Capt. Garrett A. White, hero and idolized by the citizens of Somerville and Burleson County, was buried with thousands looking on the scene from many sections of the state. He was slain by Sledge Houston on March 13. In the current issue of the Somerville News-Tri-

H. A. FUCHS ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY RE-ELECTION

POPULAR COMMISSIONER ASKS SECOND TERM IN OFFICE ON RECORD

H. A. Fuchs serving his first term as county commissioner from Precinct No. 1, composed of beats 6 and 7, has announced as a candidate for a second term in this office subject to the July Democratic primary.

Mr. Fuchs in making his announcement says that he wants a second term and offers on his record as a commissioner. His service has been satisfactory to the court and the people of his precinct. While he has not had sufficient funds with which to do the work in a way altogether commensurate with the service he wishes to render, he has purchased a good tractor and in the future will have more funds to work the roads.

In his precinct there are some 60 miles of gravel roads, practically all roads in passable condition at all laterals. Mr. Fuchs has kept these times and constantly improved them.

His service has been one to give the people one hundred cents value for every dollar spent on the roads.

The many friends of Mr. Fuchs throughout the district will be pleased with his announcement and will give him liberal support at the polls.

LIBRARY TAG DAY FOR HIGH SCHOOL MARCH 31

WILL ASK FOR VOLUMES TO INCREASE NUMBER IN BUILDING NOW 7,000

Wednesday, March 31 will be library tag day for the Yoe High School Library. Every school booster in Cameron will be tagged with the library tag.

We have adopted the following slogan for this day, "Make Yoe the Best High School in Texas, by Giving Yoe the Best High School Library in Texas."

The high school has made big strides this year in their library development and we hope to make bigger ones during the next year. At the beginning of the present school year we had approximately 4000 volumes on hand and at present we have approximately 7000 volumes on hand. This count does not include hundreds of magazine and bulletin files, which include information on an unlimited number of subjects.

Wear the Library Tag March 31 and help us carry out our slogan.

Miss Irene Bell of Baylor College spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Carrie Brady Bell in Maysfield. She spent Monday with Cameron relatives and returned to Baylor to attend the spring term.

SLEEPS WITH LIGHTNING

Nathan Hines, high school student, residing in the home of Mrs. India Stidham, saw the bed in which he was sleeping consumed by lightning as he was awakened by the shock early Saturday morning.

The room of Mr. Hines is on the third floor of the boarding house. The hardwood footboard of the bed was badly shattered.

Lightning struck the house early Saturday morning. The electric meter and wiring was badly damaged. Paper was torn from the walls in several rooms.

Several boarders in the house were rudely awakened by the bolt but all escaped without injury.

TWO MURDER CASES ARE REVERSED FROM MILAM

CLAXTON AND MOORE CASES REVERSED AND REMANDED FOR NEW TRIALS

The court of criminal appeals at Austin has reversed the case of Jack Moore convicted in the District court here for the murder of Mann Davis near San Gabriel in May 1925, and given fifty years in the penitentiary. The court decision makes it necessary for a new trial to be held, but no date has been set as the district had not up to yesterday received a copy of the mandate.

Davis was shot down from his cultivator while plowing in the field. A shotgun was used. Moore said he shot Davis because he insulted his wife. The case attracted wide attention and was tried by A. J. Lewis district attorney in the summer of last year.

The court has also reversed and remanded for new trial the cases against Abe Claxton convicted here and given life sentence for the murder of J. A. McAlpine and Otto Junek in July 1924 at North Elm. A case against him for assault with intent to murder Mrs. J. A. McAlpine at the same time has not been tried.

The shooting occurred when, according to testimony, a daughter of Claxton told him that Junek and McAlpine had cursed her for using water from a cistern. Mrs. McAlpine was shot through the door of the McAlpine home and McAlpine was killed when he remonstrated with Claxton about shooting his wife.

Junek was followed from the house and shot down in a garden nearby.

Claxton about 65 years of age has been in jail here since the conviction and will probably be released on bond when the mandate is received.

Miss Edna Dunham returned Monday to take up her studies for the spring term in Trinity University, after a pleasant visit to friends here and her parents near Duncan.

MERCHANTS ARRANGE EXHIBIT MERCHANDISE

CHRISTIAN CHURCH CLASS UNDER MRS. A. B. GUINN DIRECT PAGEANT

The Spring Style Revue directed by Mrs. A. B. Guinn and promoted by "The Builders Class" of the Christian Sunday School held at the Yoe High auditorium on Tuesday evening drew a full house and was pronounced by all who saw it an unequalled success. Co-operation of most of the business firms was enlisted and merchandise stocks of Cameron were shown to be desirable and sufficient for the Cameron trade.

The most beautiful girls and children of the town were chosen as models for the expensive garments shown. Unique displays of attractive design were made by all of the firms who contributed to the success of the revue.

The stage setting and display platform were well chosen. Much enthusiasm in the audience and from the display of the oldest business in Milam County to the appearance on the stage of the youngest business man, Sam Graham, Jr. who sells the Saturday Evening Post, each number brought forth unstinted applause.

Mrs. A. B. Guinn, handsomely gowned in sequin trimmed gown, was official announcer and kept the attention of the crowd throughout the program.

The following business firms presented displays

DR. CHAS. CROSS DIES IN SAN FRANCISCO HOME

BROTHER OF S. P. CROSS NOTED PHYSICIAN PASSES AWAY WEDNESDAY

S. P. Cross received a wire message Wednesday from his sister-in-law in San Francisco, California, stating that his brother, Charlie died that day at 12:30 p.m.

Some of the older citizens of Cameron will no doubt remember that back in 1883 to December 1886 there was a young man employed here at the G. C. and S. F. railroad as telegraph operator and station clerk by the name of Charley Cross, who in December 1889 took his departure for San Francisco, California, where in later years he took up the study of medicine, and for the over thirty years as doctor Charles Cross has been identified with the medical and surgical work in California.

During the Spanish American War Dr. Cross was in the government service, and although, past the draft age in the world war, offered his service to the government and did service as Major, having charge of the invalid training camp at Vallejo, California, under which commission he served until the close of the world war.

Mr. Cross was born in Brunswick, Mo. and came to Texas in 1883. As a physician his theories have been widely commented upon. Friends in Cameron recall that not many years ago the Literary Digest gave a two page account on his treatment methods as applied to deformed and withered limbs.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Cross will sympathize deeply in the loss they have sustained.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Hints For Helping

Sometimes the clothes basket has a tendency to discolor the clothing that is put in it. This can be avoided if white oil-cloth is sewed on the inside of the basket. The basket will be preserved longer by doing this, also.

Style Note

Lace is becoming more and more popular. It has extended even to coats. Hand-made black lace seems to be the most prevalent.

The Movies

AGED JONES PRAIRIE RESIDENT IS BURIED

E. W. POOL, MEMBER BAPTIST CHURCH AT LITTLE RIVER FOR SEVENTY YEARS

Elbert W. Pool, 86 years, 5 months and 29 days of age, beloved citizen of Jones Prairie passed away Monday morning, March 22, 1926, at 2:30 o'clock in the home of his son, Earl Pool. He had been in poor health for some years and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pool gave him tenderest care in his age and affliction.

The funeral services were conducted at the Little River Baptist church by Rev. C. L. Spradley, an old time friend, assisted by Rev. E. S. Hutcherson, pastor of the Cameron Baptist church and by Rev. C. L. Boone Baptist Missionary for Milam County. Mr. Pool was the oldest member of the Little River church, having been a member for 70 years.

The C. N. Green and Bros., undertakers, directed the funeral which was held from the church at Little River with burial in the cemetery there.

Elbert W. Pool was the son of Isaac Pool and Mary E. Pool, who came to Texas from Mississippi when he was a young boy. He was one of a family of twelve children. He enlisted in the Confederate Army in 1862 in Company G. Fifth Infantry, Hood's Brigade. He returned to Milam County after the war and engaged in farming near Jones Prairie.

He was a devout member of the Baptist church and brought his family up in that faith.

His wife died many years ago. He is survived by three sons, George Pool of West Texas, Earl Pool of Jones Prairie, Will Pool of Missouri and by one daughter, Mrs. J. A. Jamison of Jones Prairie. He will be greatly missed by his life long friends and kind neighbors.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful. About thirty friends from Cameron went to the funeral and there was a large crowd of friends and neighbors present. The pall bearers were Messrs. E. B. Yager, J. H. Burnett, W. M. Bailey, T. D. Brannum, S. M. Harrell and T. B. Stidham.

Radio

Usually a radio set in a frame building will receive greater distance and with more volume than will a set in a brick house, especially if the superstructure is of steel. The steel structure will absorb radio waves, therefore taking way some of the energy.

Something You Should Know

There are 206 bones in the body. This includes three bones in each ear and counts the breast bones, which has three parts as one bone.

APPRECIATION

We wish to extend our thanks to the merchants for their co-operation in the Style Show, to the Cameron Orchestra for the splendid music, and to Miss Glennie Stafford and her pupils for the attractive window posters.

J. D. Nesbett from near Salem was in Cameron Wednesday and while here called at this office to renew the subscription of Mrs. W. N. Shields at Mullin, Texas. Mr. Nesbett has been a reader of the Cameron Herald for 48 years, being one of the oldest if not the oldest reader in point of subscription now on the list. Mr. Nesbett says that the community in which he lives has a fine season and prospects are good for a bumper crop. He was interested in the plans for the old fiddlers contest but could not attend. He expects to attend the next contest here.

Nero Had Nothing On This Band

Palm Beach, Florida., March 13.—Nero had nothing on the West Palm Beach municipal band. Almost every time they "fiddle" something burns.

On March 8, 1925, the band was playing "There'll Be A Hot Time In The Old Town Tonight" at the athletic field here. As it played the Baker Hotel burned to the ground.

Tuesday as the band was playing "Keep The Home Fires Burning," at Orlando a $25,000 warehouse burned down a block away.

The following day the band played at Lake Eola. As it struck up the strains of "Red Hot Mama," fire burst forth in a private hospital across the lake.

Fire chief Alfred P. Sadler said the band should be equipped with asbestos uniforms.

LOSS OF JOEL HUNT IS BLOW TO AGGIES

FLASHY HALFBACK OF A. & M.
NOT TO BE ELIGIBLE FOR PLAY NEXT SEASON

College Station, Texas., March 23.—Recent withdrawal from school here of Joel Hunt, flashy halfback was a staggering blow to Texas Aggie hopes of retaining in 1926 the Southwest conference grid crown won so gloriously last fall. He will not be eligible in '26.

Hunt, a product of Coach Paul Tyson of Waco High School, in 1925 played his first season of intercollegiate football. His dashing all-around play did much to carry the red and white gridsters to the championship and he was acclaimed the most promising halfback to perform in the Southwest conference in many a day. Scholastic difficulties is said to have been the cause of his withdrawal.

On stabs off tackle, Hunt last season showed superb form. He was quick to find the slightest opening and hard to knock from his feet. The fashion in which the Aggies executed dashes off tackle with Hunt toting the pigskin, evoked the admiration of seasoned football followers.

However, Hunt probably was of greater value to the Aggies as a heaver of forward passes than as a running back. He was the most accurate passer in the conference, and no eleven could afford to draw its backs in very close to halt a running attack with Hunt in the Aggie line-up.

The Waco lad was also adept at breaking up the overhead game, and could hold his own with most in "backing up the line."

As a reward for his splendid work in 1925, Hunt was named on many all-conference combinations. He was selected as a halfback on the Associated Press All-Conference eleven, compiled with choices of a large number of coaches, officials and sport writers. In 1926 and 1927, Hunt was expected to far surpass his splendid play of 1925. It goes without saying that Coach Dana Bible will miss the services of this 160 pound star.

Hunt turned in one of his best games of last season Thanksgiving Day against the Texas Longhorns here, and was an important factor in the 28-0 title winning victory over Coach "Doc" Stewart's eleven. His forward pass—a perfect heave—to Berry, quarterback, paved the way for the all-important touchdown of the Farmers.

With Hunt apparently lost to the 1925 combination, Coach Bible will not have a single backfield letterman about whom to build the '26 back of the line quartet. Captain "Mule" Wilson, "Dusty" Berry, Mickey Maguire and Kishi all will be lost by graduation.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lankford a fine ten and a half pound baby boy at their home near Hanover. Mother and babe are doing nicely and the parents are receiving the congratulations of their many friends as well as the attending physician Dr. J. L. Denson.

Mrs. Emma Boswell and daughter, Kathleen of Bartlett attended the funeral of Mr. P. H. McKinney at Little River church on Wednesday.

Tiny Finds a Way

By HOMER B. KING

(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

TO BIG JIM CARNAHAN—Lippy—
—and Tiny Perkin, had come the parting of the ways.

It was the finding of a rich old river bed at the end of the fifty-foot tunnel they had driven into a hill that caused the trouble; after years of seeking, the possibility of sudden wealth had suddenly awakened in Lippy the devil's cupid.

Today the last of the gravel they had wheeled out was being sluiced and Carnahan had driven Tiny away, swearing he would twist his skinny old neck if he came back before the work was finished. Sneaking around through the brush, Tiny hid close to where the big fellow was working, and for two hours watched him, and before leaving he knew Carnahan was robbing him.

When Carnahan entered the cabin Tiny greeted him in his usual cheery manner.

"How'd she clean, Lippy, boy?" he chirped.

"Not much—that's all." Carnahan growled, dropping two slim buckskin fust bags on a slab table.

An hour after Carnahan took from beneath his bunk two other bags of gold dust.

"Pull up!" he ordered. "I'm going to divide what we've got."

"What's the idea, boy? Can't we do that when we get to Mt. Idaho?"

"No! We're spittin' right now."

"Why?"

"Because," Lippy rasped, thrusting his heavy face forward, "because, old man, you leave tomorrow for outside. I'm through supportin' you."

"Why, Lippy, you ain't supportin' me—our claim's more than doin' that."

Carnahan laughed shortly. "Our claim?" he scoffed. "Ain't you woke up yet to the fact that you ain't got no claim? It's mine, old man."

After pouring half of the second bag on a piece of paper, folding it and pushing it toward Tiny, he rose, and first placing his gold beneath his jacket pillow he dropped on his bunk.

For a time Tiny sat silent. "Boy," he at last quivered, "what you've done ain't square, but I've lived a long time and seen lots of things—and understand. I've found out that gold madness is worse than most anything a man can get—and Lippy you've got it!"

"Shut up or I'll—"

"See," Tiny interrupted, "it'd make you murder your best friend. Come on, son, let's get away. We'll go down to Mt. Idaho and spend the winter."

Carnahan leaped to his feet. "Cut it, you old rat! I know what you are drivin' at—you want to get me out where you can make a fight for half of this claim. Well, you don't do it—and tomorrow you git!"

It was after midnight when Tiny, leaving Carnahan snoring loudly, slipped out and hurried up the creek to the tunnel. Lighting a stub of candle he went inside. In half an hour he found Carnahan's cache. His next move was to stick fuse into several sticks of giant. Five fuses he capped; the others he only tied to the powder and dropped them into a sack which he hung across his shoulder, leaving the fuses dangling. Next he placed two of the loaded sticks at the tunnel mouth, lighted them and ran down the creek toward the cabin.

He was still running when the explosion came and small rocks rattled about him. He heard the roar of sliding earth and knew the tunnel was no more. Next he heard Carnahan yelling his name as he ran toward him, and slipping into the brush he let him rush past. Then he ran on to the cabin.

First he took the gold from beneath Carnahan's pillow. Next he carried out their remaining grub, Carnahan's clothes and their blankets. Dividing the food he put his part into his sack; the other half he left on top of the blankets. Placing two sticks of giant in the doorway he again ran. Then came the roar and the cabin was a jumble of logs.

"Two minutes after, raging like a crazy man, Carnahan came running back, and Tiny, swinging about his head a stick of dynamite with lighted fuse, yelling like a mad man, leaped toward him.

"Git out of the way!" he screamed. "Git! I'm comin'. I'm the powder man—powder man!" he sang, and disappeared into the bush as the roar of the powder he had thrown sounded.

Lippy gave one look and ran as though devils were pursuing him.

In Mt. Idaho, two days later, Lippy, red-eyed and haggard from sleepless nights of terror, stood before Sheriff Adams.

"I tell you, sheriff," he was saying, "he's plum crazy. Poor little devil. Way, man, he done his best to blow me to smithereens with dynamite. He did blow up our tunnel and cabin. We'd made the biggest cleanup of our lives, too, and he blowed it plum to kingdom come, but—"

"Hello, Lippy—figgered I'd find you here," Tiny called from the doorway. "Beat me in by an eyelash, didn't you?"

"Look out!" Lippy yelled, dodging behind a desk. "Look out! He's got the powder in that sack! Look out!"

Tiny grinned.

"Don't get excited, sheriff. I throwed the powder away 'fore I got into town. I got suthin' better'n powder here," and he dumped on the desk six buckskin bags. "Wish you'd weigh that sheriff. Half's mine and half's Lippy's. Him and me had a little argument back at the mine. Howsomer, it's settled now, ain't it, Lippy?"

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH
MAYSFIELD, TEXAS
Rev. S. G. Porter, Pastor

There will be a series of meetings held in the Methodist Church in Maysfield during Holy Week. Beginning Monday night 7:30 p. m. service and preaching every evening and closing Easter Sunday night. Everyone cordially invited.

A box supper will be given by the Maysfield Dramatic Club Monday night, April 5th for the benefit of the moving picture and light plant for the church and community. Everyone come and help the church serve the community.

A radio has been donated to the church by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Freeman to be sold and the money applied to the motion picture machine. It is a four tube radio complete with tubes, batteries, loud speaker, etc. First reasonable offer gets this fine radio; communicate with the pastor.

The Woman's Missionary Society promoted a chicken shower the past week to help purchase the light plant and motion picture machine. A good sum was realized in this way.

The Gospel is not a doleful dirge of death. Not a funeral march. "We preach Christ Risen" Victorious Life. What the world most needs today is not a fire insurance policy, but the Gospel of the Risen Christ. The Gospel of victorious living. The stone is rolled away from the door of the sepulchre, and the white robed shining angels proclaim the destruction of death and the fact "why seek ye the living among the dead" Jesus is risen, hallelujah, and become the first fruit of them that slept.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils
Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! How good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.

Congratulations

We sincerely congratulate The Cameron Florist on the Grand Opening Saturday, March 27. We trust that the enterprise represented by Mr. Reed which is a splendid advantage for Cameron will be successful in every way possible.

POPULATION ON THE INCREASE

The people of the United States are beginning to see the possibilities in Texas, and as a result the population of the Lone Star State is on a steady increase.

The latest figures given out show that Texas now has a population of over five million three hundred thousand; and if the present increase keeps up in the same proportion, it will not be many years until the six million mark will be passed.

The increase in the people of Texas is not confined to the agricultural sections nor to the cities, but is divided between the two. Both the farming country and the cities show large additions to the population. This goes to show that Texas does not have to rely on any one industry for its existence.

People of Texas know just what their advantages are, and it is only a matter of time until the entire world will know the same thing. And the best thing we who live in Texas can do now is to bring this world-wide knowledge as quickly as possible by tooting our own horn.

AN ATHEIST SOCIETY

The United States of America could never have become the great nation that it is today had it not been for the uplifting influence of the Christian religion. There is nothing more fully grounded in the country as a whole than the belief in God.

And yet, a few puny humans have decided to gather themselves into a society for the propagation of atheism—to teach to the world that there is no Supreme Being. We have heard of ventures which we thought were foolish, but we must admit that this one takes the first prize in foolishness.

We may as well try to convince the world that the sun rises in the south and does not set at all as try to rid the United States of a belief in a Supreme Being. Two hundred years of faith have welded the nation as much as any one other thing and it would take ten times as long to tear down these beliefs.

If the atheists want to doubt God's existence that is their business; but let us hope that they will not be crazy enough to try to force their pagan ideas on the rest of the populace.

THE OPEN AIR

One of the problems of modern civilization is how to get people out more in the open air. The human physique was built up as the result of centuries of experience at out door work. For thousands of years, most human beings earned their support by some form of open air toil. But during the last century or two, we have broken with the habits out of which human strength was built up.

Farmers, truckmen, bricklayers, railroad workers, etc. are a number of classes of people who still work in the open air. They are usually healthier than the rest of us. But the great majority of American men and women work at occupations that shut them up in stores, factories and offices. Married women do housework in more or less tightly closed houses.

After people's daily laborers are over, they return to these same tightly closed houses, and stay in them, or go out to halls of amusement or meeting which are often lacking in fresh air. The general effect of this change from the conditions that primitive man enjoyed, can not be helpful.

During the summer it becomes possible to be out doors a great deal more, and to enjoy more of the out door air in the homes. People are not so subject to disease during the summer. Much as they may complain of heat, it is clearly a healthier season. The people should take advantage of every hour of fresh air that they can get.

People are altogether too fearful of a little cold air. The moment it turns a little chilly, they shut themselves in their houses, and lose the benefit of the bright oxygen. The hot weather of the summer time may be a slightly depressing influence. And yet if people could accustom themselves more to open air activities in winter, they would acquire more vigor and would not be so wilted down by the heat of summer. Sunlight, save under conditions of exceptional heat, is tonic and invigorating.

DEVELOPING PERSONALITY

"Personality" is a quality which the occupational experts tell us we must have to achieve success. But most people have only a vague idea of what personality is and how anyone can acquire it.

F. H. Beckman, a San Francisco business engineer, gave several definitions of this quality in a recent address. One of his ideas was that personality is a quality as the result of which the presence of some people is desirable, and the presence of some is undesirable.

There are some men and women who seem to inspire confidence the moment you enter into conversation with them. If you are doing business with them, you feel that they are going to look after your interests and that their advice will be good. A person that has this quality is practically sure to make good, provided such a one is not lacking in some important respect.

This kind of gift is gained in different ways. Some rather silent and reserved people obtain it, though they may not command it right off when you first meet them. It may take time to show up their good qualities.

One thing that enables many to gain something of that confidence at once, is the display of a feeling of interest in the people one meets. There are some whose self absorption is constantly manifested. If they are working for you they do not seem specially interested in your problems. If they are trying to sell you goods, they seem interested only in making the sale.

People of that type need to get out of themselves, and show an interest in the people with who they have dealings. They must not merely put on that appearance, but they must actually feel that interest. Such a sentiment will give an appearance of cordiality and desire to render useful service, and when people have that disposition they have much of the qualities that constitute personality.

NEW THINGS

Every new improvement usually excites absurd fears, and frequently these fears block the adoption of these new ideas for a long time.

When railroads were first being built, it was argued that they would be very dangerous. The puffing locomotives would scare the horses and cause many of them to run away, thus smashing up the carriages and injuring the people who were riding.

When bath-tubs were first introduced, it was held that they would be very dangerous, as people would get cold from thus applying water to themselves.

Back 250 years ago in London, a law was passed to prohibit coaches on the streets of the city, because of the destruction their wheels would do to the paving stones.

When Faraday in 1832 was showing the scientists a spark produced by magnetic induction, one of them remarked that he was sorry for the new idea, as it would give an incendiary something new with which he could set buildings afire.

And yet not all the new ideas are good. Many of them are futile and dangerous. Some people are so constituted that they shout for every new thing, and have to be taught by painful experience which ones are useless or pernicious.

Human nature has to study the golden mean between hasty absorption of untried ideas, and unreasonable fear of them. We must develop the historical and experimenting spirit, be willing to try out new ideas, but also must know the results of past experiments. It is no use getting hurt trying out new ideas when our fathers and grandfathers were injured before us on the same things. Yet the fundamental fact of experience is that the world sees great changes, and nothing stays as it used to be if it is any good.

THE INDIVIDUALITY OF A CITY

American cities of similar population and age are apt to look a good deal alike. They have about the same types of old and new business buildings, old and new dwellings, etc.

But when you come to the character of a city and the way it reacts to the things that happen then a marked difference appears. Some of them are very wide awake and ambitious, and some are very slow and satisfied with what they already have done.

This individuality however, is not a fixed thing. A few aggressive people can take the lead in a town which has been slow, and in a few years, by the buoyancy of their courage and the energy of their action, they can put a new spirit into that place. They can create an alert attitude that is ready to meet present day situations in an adequate way.

THE SOUL OF A TOWN

It is not a mere bit of poetic imagination to say that a town may have a soul. But some towns show no sign of having one. They are like a man with a capacious stomach which he enjoys filling, but with no aspiration to any higher level of culture.

For a town to have a soul, its people, or a considerable group of them, must likewise have an aspiration toward a better development. They must desire more beauty of physical aspects for old and young, etc.

The way to stimulate such sentiment, is to induce people to take hold of some practical task that shall help create a better town. The man who has planted a tree or helped develop a park begins to feel a new ambition for his home city, and he has done something to create a soul within it.

RIGHT USE OF THE HAMMER

Civic sentiment dislikes the metaphorical hammer with which the knockers carp at their home town institutions. But it very much approves of the old fashioned one on your tool bench, which should be used to repair disorderly features on your home place.

P. H. MCKINNEY PIONEER IS BURIED WEDNESDAY

BELOVED CITIZEN DIES AT AGE
OF 72 YEARS AFTER DECLINING HEALTH

A feeling of sadness fell like a pall over Cameron when the news of the death of P. H. McKinney, 72, of Jones Prairie became known Wednesday morning. His death occurred at his home at Jones Prairie Tuesday night. His health had not been good for some time, yet his death was a distinct shock to his family, relatives and friends.

Mr. McKinney was a handsome man of distinguished appearance and highly bearing. He was a prominent farmer identified with all enterprises promoting the welfare of the Jones Prairie community, where he had made his home for so many years. He was a community leader, and interested in promoting the public good in every way.

He was a zealous and active member of the Baptist church and was devoted to its tenets. He had been a member of Little River Baptist church most of his life.

Patrick H. McKinney, born October 26, 1854, was the son of Jasper and Martha Bozeman McKinney, who came to Texas in pioneer days. Mr. McKinney was a native son of Milam County. He married Miss Willie Pool and their home was a christian home which radiated love and hospitality.

He is survived by his wife and his two sons, Messrs. Hugh McKinney and Patrick McKinney, Jr. and four daughters, Mrs. Sallie Henderson of San Antonio, Mrs. Pearl McNeil of Houston, Miss Edna McKinney of Jones Prairie and Mrs. Ruth Baskin of Cameron. The entire family circle were present at the funeral.

Mr. McKinney will be greatly missed by his family and large number of friends and relatives. The very assemblage of friends and relatives from distant places who came for his funeral was a tribute to the esteem in which he was held by all.

Rev. S. I. McClung of Cleburne a former pastor, assisted by Rev. C. L. Spradley and Rev. C. L. Boone, who each had served as his pastor conducted his funeral service at Little River church. Mrs. Alex Triggs sang his favorite song, "What A Friend We Have In Jesus" accompanied by Mrs. S. M. Burns, Jr.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Archie McLerran, T. B. Stidham, H. R. Edwards, E. B. Yeager, Carl Black, A. L. Burnett, A. H. Baskin and George Roden. The funeral arrangements were in charge of C. N. Green and Bros. undertaking parlors. A floral blanket of carnations and ferns was placed over his grave by loving hands. Many floral tributes were sent by friends.

12,409 BALES COTTON CROP OF MILAM 1925

DROUTH CONDITIONS FATAL TO FARM INTERESTS AND LOSS WAS HEAVY

Figures just made public by Basil McGregor, special agent for the department of commerce on the cotton crop of Milam County for 1925 show the disastrous effects of the drouth that parched 68 central Texas counties last year.

In Milam County the crop of 1925 was 12,409 bales as compared with 60,102 for 1924. Contrasting this number with the 1924 crop gives adequate impression to the disaster suffered by Central Texas farmers.

Based on the price of $150 per bale including all seed and by products the cotton crop of Milam County for 1925 brought the farmers on $1,800,000 as against $9,000,000 for 1924 based on the same computation. These figures are approximate but will show the great difference in production.

It is said that farmers are planting feed stuff this year as they have never planted before.

During the fall of 1925 and the early winter of 1926 over 300 car loads of feed stuff were shipped into this territory on account of the crop failures. It is pointed out that even in normal times the shipment of feed stuff to this county as well as other cotton counties is far above the figure at which farmers can hope to permanently prosper.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to offer our gratitude and appreciation to our friends, neighbors, Dr. Epperson and Dr. Monroe for the kindness shown us during the recent illness and death of our darling baby, also for the beautiful flowers sent.

On his first trip to the plate Peel scored a rousing triple far over Smith's head in center field. From then on they followed with amazing fluency."

NO INDICTMENTS MADE TEXAS HIGHWAY PROBE

GRAND JURY ADJOURNS BUT FINDS NO BILL OVER CHARGES MADE BY MOODY

Austin, Tex., March 23.—Evidence of a serious lack of proper business methods involving "great waste of public money," was found in investigating the conduct of the state highway department, the Travis county grand jury reported on adjourning.

It recommended the next legislature provided for an annual audit of all state departments handling public money.

"At this time there has not been presented to this grand jury sufficient corroborative testimony on which to base indictments," the report said.

Since the first week in February the grand jury which adjourned today, had at intervals looked into the workings of the highway department. This investigation was started by the ominous testimony to the December term grand jury with making a report.

The grand jury reported it had reviewed the mass of testimony developed by the two preceding bodies, had considered the new testimony and had had the assistance of the members of the attorney general's department.

"Failure of an adjustment of the annual income to the obligations incurred showed that the highway department, at certain times, has been indebted over its ability to pay," the report said.

"Evidence has been presented to the grand jury that systems and budgets are now being put into practice in the highway department."

CHRISTMAS CANTATA AT METHODIST CHURCH

EASTER PROGRAM NEXT SUNDAY WILL ATTRACT MANY TO CHURCH

The choir at the Methodist church under the direction of Mrs. C. S. Peyton is preparing a Christmas Cantata for Easter Sunday, April 4.

The choir is holding practice nights and is to give the people a great program of music for the Easter service.

CARL BRYAN AT STATE

Carl Bryan, well-known last year's graduate of Yoe High is attending the Texas State University this year earning his expenses by his labor. The following excerpts of a nearly typewritten letter to superintendent T. A. Fisher of Yoe High School will serve to Carl's many Cameron friends notice that he has succeeded so far and that he will always be glad to meet them when they come to Austin.

Carl Bryan is a fine example of what an earnest boy may accomplish by work and the Cameron Herald is proud of his record.

2000 San Antonio St. Austin, Texas.

March 21, 1926.

Dear Mr. Fisher:

At last Miss Fortune has smiled upon her neglected son and bestowed upon him the blessings of employment. I am now working from 10 p. m. to 6 a. m. in a cafe down town. I get about three hours sleep during that time, however, and sleep some in the day time. I get the all important three meals per day and an extra fifteen dollars per month in recognition of my services. It is a pretty good job, but it might prove hard on my grades at the end of the spring term.

I noticed in the Texan that Cameron had entered in the Relays. I hope they get their share of the first places. I don't suppose I will be able to see the Relays this year, but I expect to see all the Cameron gang present.

Give my best regards to friends, the faculty and student body, and write again,

Yours Sincerely,
CARL BRYAN

Supt. T. A. Fisher and a number of the representative students of the Cameron Schools motored to Rockdale Friday and Saturday to attend the contests in Literary and Athletic events. Some of the students enjoyed the splendid hospitality of Rockdale during the meet. They were royally entertained and hope the meet will be held in Cameron next year so that Rockdale hospitality may be reciprocated.

County Superintendent Katharyn K. Robbins was gratified to note the splendid exhibits from seven rural schools displayed in the Rockdale school building during the county meet. Health exhibits held foremost place and the geography work was especially fine. Two schools had exhibits of domestic art. Each display deserved special mention for general excellence. The county superintendent hopes that other schools next year will follow the examples of the following progressive schools, Maysfield, Branchville, Minerva, Oak Hill, Yarrington, Salem and Sharp and begin early to arrange for school exhibits at the county met.

Giles Todd of Temple and Wilbur Todd of Austin spent Tuesday night in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Todd.

CYCLONE DAVIS WILL NOT RUN FOR GOVERNOR

WILL SUPPORT LYNCH DAVIDSON ON ACCOUNT OF PROHIBITION RECORD

Sulphur Springs, Texas, March 23. The following communication has been submitted by Judge J. H. (Cyclone) Davis of Sulphur Springs.

"Answering the press dispatch from Austin that I expect to be in the governor's race, with gratitude to my friends over Texas, I can say I would have gone into the governor's race 2 weeks ago if I had not been a klansman. The official heads of the clan have publicly announced in good faith that they will have no candidate for state office in this campaign.

"Since Joe Bailey and Mayor Blaylock of Dallas have come out for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, which means the return of the saloons, I am more anxious than ever to make a race for governor. But, being a klansman, and well known as such, it would embarrass our leaders and might complicate matters and help to continue the enthronement of the wets, who are spending millions to destroy prohibition. Hence, I will not be a candidate, and will join with our leaders to try to prevent any klansman from entering a state race in this campaign. Since Lynch Davidson's opening speech rings clear and sound on the prohibition question, as the case stands now, I expect to support him."

SOCIETY NEWS

BY MRS. JEFF T. KEMP

MOODY TO WED

Because of his many friends in Cameron the following will be of interest to readers of society regarding the coming marriage of Dan Moody, attorney general.

Abilene, Texas.—The thin skein of romance has become interwoven with humdrum politics. Through the 1926 campaign Dan Cupid will march hand in hand with another Dan—Texas youthful attorney general, now a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

The formal announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Mildred Paxton, daughter of an Abilene banker, to Attorney General Dan Moody, was made Saturday night by her parents. It comes close on the heels of previous unconfirmed reports that they would marry possibly next summer.

The wedding will be in the First Baptist Church here at 8 o'clock, April 20. Simplicity will prevail throughout because of the recent death of close relatives of the Paxton family. Dr. Lee R. Scarborough, president of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth an uncle of Miss Paxton, will perform the ceremony. No invitations are to be issued, but all friends are invited.

The bride-elect is the daughter of one of the most prominent and influential families of West Texas. Her father is Geo. L. Paxton, president of the Citizens National Bank here, a leader in civic affairs and the development of West Texas. Her mother is the daughter of the late C. P. Warren, prominent West Texas trail blazer and financial leader, instrumental in the establishment and development of Simmons University more than 30 years ago.

Miss Paxton's life has been one of activity, socially and otherwise.

From the quiet life of instructor in college she turned to newspaper work, engaged in it actively for months, served as a Red Cross nurse in a Philadelphia hospital during the war returned to newspaper work—her first love—and college teaching, and then entered the publicity branch of chamber of commerce work. She was queen at the West Texas Fair, having been selected to that honor in 1923, and in the same year was Princess Abilene at the Texas Cotton Palace, Waco.

While a student in Simmons College Miss Paxton first showed her interest in newspaper work. She established a weekly paper during her senior year and as editor gave it the foundation for its future growth. It has been her pride since its birth. Following her graduation she established the woman's page of the Abilene Daily Reporter and edited it for several months. In 1924 she began the publication of a monthly journal for the Abilene Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Paxton graduated from Simmons

mons with highest honors and returned there the following year as an instructor in English. She later entered Texas University, studied journalism, and obtained an M. A. degree. In the meantime she did newspaper work in Abilene. She returned to Texas University and joined the publicity department for a year. She then entered Columbia University, received a degree in journalism, and made a tour of Europe. During her study at Columbia she did special feature work for New York newspapers.

During the war Miss Paxton, dissatisfied with an inactive life, entered the Red Cross training camp at Vassar with 25 Texas girls. She completed a course in nursing and served during the remainder of the war in a hospital unit for soldiers at Philadelphia.

It was during 1918 that she met the present attorney general.

An intimate friend of Miss Paxton, Miss Mamie Goodnight, was to become the bride of Roy Bradley, also of Abilene, who, at that time, was an instructor in the aviation school at Austin. When he failed to secure leave of absence to return home the scene of the wedding was transferred to the home of his friend, Dan Moody, at Taylor. Miss Paxton attended as a bridesmaid.

Years passed and nothing came of the meeting. Not until Miss Paxton had become connected with the publicity department of the University of Texas and Moody had been elected district attorney of Williamson and Travis Counties did she hear of him again. A telephone conversation in which he told her that he had been watching her rise paved the way for future associations.

During the last year the attorney general has made many trips to Abilene, both of business and of a personal nature. In 1924 Miss Paxton was sponsor of Abilene on the tour of 125 trade trippers through the heart of Texas. The Attorney General was a guest on the tour and they were together frequently. He later invited her as his guest on the trip of the Texas House of Representatives through the Rio Grande Valley.

Though a distinctive social leader in Abilene, Miss Paxton devotes most of her time to other activities. She is of the athletic type and goes in for golf with enthusiasm. Swimming likewise is a favorite pastime. She is the only girl in her home city who has succeeded in an attempted half-mile swim immediately after 18 holes of golf.

A business session of the Auxiliary met at the church Monday afternoon and was followed by a program on Foreign Missions led by Mrs. J. H. Sapp in the absence of Mrs. Ben Atkinson, Foreign Mission Secretary.

No meeting of the Loyal Woman's Council was held Monday afternoon but each member was busily engaged on committee work preparatory to the Style Revue held on Tuesday evening at Yoe High School auditorium.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Monday afternoon members of the Methodist Missionary Society met in the Junior Sunday School Room for Bible study. The Book of Jeremiah was studied by means of questions and answers, Mrs. W. O. Triggs, leading. The next monthly Bible Drill will be a review of Jeremiah and a study of Lamentations.

CAPT. GARRETT WHITE IS BURIED AT SOMERVILLE

BELOVED BURLESON COUNTY OFFICER HONORED BY THOUSANDS AT HOME

The funeral of Captain White, Somerville's hero, soldier and Constable was one of the most impressive and most beautiful that Somerville has ever witnessed. People from all over the county attended and paid their last respects to the one whom they loved so well.

The ceremony was held at the home at five o'clock p. m. with hundreds of people present. No action was started until Mrs. L. A. White, arrived at 4:45 that afternoon, just a few minutes before the procession started for the Oak Lawn Cemetery, where Capt. White was laid to rest with his old Company doing last honors to their dead friend.

The procession started from the home at five o'clock with the ministers, Rev. W. W. Burr of Caldwell, and Rev. C. A. Ray of this city leading, the hearse with the bier followed, next came the flag bearers, and the mourners. Following the mourners came Company H and the balance of his friends.

Just prior to the processions leaving the house, two truck loads of flowers and wreaths of flowers left for the cemetery.

Upon the arrival of the procession at the cemetery, the last services and beautiful vocal selections were sung prior to lowering the body in the grave.

At the conclusion of the services, Company "H" was called to attention and the firing squad saluted the dead with three rounds of blank ammunition. Following the salutes "Taps" were blown over our Captain by Mr. Fred Schultz.

All through the services and the funeral the rain was pouring down, making a disagreeable task more disagreeable.

Flowers were sent from every section of the state. Optimists Clubs, American Legions, friends, and other companies of the guard, they all remembered him.—Somerville News-Tribune.

Mr. and Mrs. Billie Reed and children have returned to Cameron to make their home. Their host of friends are pleased to welcome them to Cameron.

FINANCIAL DEPRESSION AND RADICAL TENDENCIES AMONG FARMERS SAYS COL. OUSLEY

Robert E. Speer, special representative of the International Typographical Union, and former Postmaster of Fort Worth, in an address before the Dallas Central Labor Council last Friday night, upon this question, raised by Hon. Clarence Ousley of the "Texas Safe Farming Association," said:

Early this year leading bankers, wholesale and retail merchants, newspapers and the principal cotton growers of Texas, most clearly visioned in the unorganized cotton production industry impeding dangers of not only disappointment and distress for exclusive cotton growers, but general commercial bankruptcy for the entire South should the 1926 cotton yield approximate the last crop, unless reduction in acreage and farm diversification occur.

The prompt organization of the "Texas Safe Farming Association" should be viewed not only as a demonstration of financial interest, but as proof that the banker and the merchant may be relied upon when living standard of the agricultural and industrial worker is threatened. Industrial America, as a result of the laborers high living standard, primarily maintained by the organized worker, is free today from that European monster, Communism.

No representative of finer statesmanship or Americanism could have been chosen to deliver the message and tender of assistance of the farmer than Clarence Ousley, director general of this organized movement. His timely appeal of the co-operation of the cotton farmer should not be in vain. There has been constant effort of effective organization among the cotton growers for the past fifty years, recording but little accomplishment. Living conditions of the cotton farmer have not kept step with the times. Neither has the farmer succeeded in reducing production even when such great surplus of cotton was on hand as at present, practically destroying the market value of the unplanted crop. Business and industries alike suffer the consequences with the cotton producer and the industrial wage earner when his organization fails him, whether of its own shortcomings or is weakened or destroyed by its enemies.

"Radicalism and a tendency toward revolutionary thought among farmers is growing apace under the economic injustice of the present agricultural situation. The system of farming which has developed a large class of operators with no ownership in the soil who are easily misled by designing men who offer seductive methods of relief is deplorable. In 1924 the farmer earned $730 as against $1,552 by the transportation worker and $2,141 by employees in clerical lines. It is not strange that a body of people suffering such comparative discrimination of the rewards of industry turn to radical expedients. If we do not contrive by some method to improve reasonably expect more destructive prove agricultural conditions we may misguided, would-be "captains of industry" in this country who place their love, faith and fear in the American dollar rather than American ideals. Their effort to thwart the organization of the cotton farmer and destroy trade unionism has been secretly clothed with sugar-coated propaganda under many nom de plumes, but thank God they run at every alarm of real danger, while real statesmen like Col. Ousley, backed by genuine American business men like those composing the "Texas Safe Farming Association," by the principles of organized trade unionism, continue to fight the battle for humanity and our cherished ideals, maintaining that high value of the American dollar of those same few slackers, along with the rest.

In the above excerpt from Col. Ousley's recent address at Grandbury, Texas, he directs the attention of the bankers and business men of this country to plain truth—a truth that is not pleasant to the ear to any citizen either employer or employee who holds fast to the perpetuation of the high ideals of American industrial institutions and standards of living.

Financial bankruptcy is deplorable. Bankruptcy of patriotism, invariably followed by revolution, is much worse.

These most serious dangers, lurking as they do around failures or organized effort for self-protection and consequent economic injustice have not been unknown to trade unionists in industrial America for the past many years. The organized clerical, transportation and industrial worker of every craft is made invincible in his determination by the full knowledge of that danger. Love of his job and fear of contact with poverty—the incubator of distress, dishonesty and revolution—makes him the good citizen that he is.

We regret that there are even a few misguided, would-be "captains of industry" in this country who place their love, faith and fear in the American dollar rather than American ideals. Their effort to thwart the organization of the cotton farmer and destroy trade unionism has been secretly clothed with sugar-coated propaganda under many nom de plumes, but thank God they run at every alarm of real danger, while real statesmen like Col. Bright Wings of Romance

By RALPH D. PAINE

(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

TIME had been very cruel to Harriet Brent. To some women the years come like an Indian summer. Harriet Brent lived alone in an old house, which also had come to have an aspect unlovely and forlorn. Four-square to the road it stood, its fields bounded by stone walls heaped together by the tenacious toll of New England pioneers.

A house that still braved the weather staunchly, it had sheltered many children and known many joys and sorrows. This its broad roof conveyed to the passer-by. For one elderly woman to dwell alone in it was like sitting by the dead ashes of a hearthstone.

Harriet Brent was not unhappy. In her heart, which seemed untenanted by warm emotions, there lived unquenched one divine spark of the true romance. Her faded eyes could soften in wistful reverie.

The Harriet Brent of those many, many years gone by had been a sensitive, slender girl of a certain flower-like, fleeting beauty. Delicate, they had called her. A shy girl, moving in misty day-dreams which she had been reluctant to reveal.

Eighteen she was when the lad had come from a larger town for a brief visit with cousins on a nearby farm. So brief—only a week. He had made love to her, with an ardor boyish and turbulent. Unashamed, she had returned his kisses.

Careless, splendid, debonair, swearing he loved her forever and ever, he had passed on and forgotten her.

Harriet Brent did not forget him. Life is sometimes that way. The spirit of romance had once, only once, brushed her with its bright wings. Time healed the poignant sorrow. It came to be that she was glad to bear the scar. Even in these somber latter years she could sit and thank God that she had known love and kisses and aching rapture.

One day this harsh-featured, unsmiling spinster went out to feed the hens. She had clapped on a battered, haymaker's straw hat. A shawl was thrown over her faded shirt-waist. The old skirt had been chopped off to make it easier to do the chores. The rubber boots were handy because there was mud in the hen yard.

The empty pan in her hand, Harriet Brent stood staring at a very large and glittering automobile which had halted in front of the house. The chauffeur was studying a weather-beaten guide-board on a post. A handsome woman, ruddy, dignified, spoke to the gentleman beside her. He left the car and walked to the gate of Harriet Brent's dooryard. She came clumping from the barn path to meet him.

"Is this the road to Warechester, if you please?"

"Yes, take the first road to the right after you climb the hill beyond the watering-trough."

"Thank you, and may my man have a pail of water to fill his radiator? If you will be good enough to show him where the well is—"

"I'll fetch you a pail," grimly spoke Harriet Brent. She lingered a moment to survey this vigorous, genial stranger with the close-cropped, grizzled moustache, the keen eyes, the air of substantial importance. Time had not been cruel to him. Life had been gracious nor had it obliterated that dominating quality which had made him victorious in boyhood.

Yes, Harriet Brent knew him as soon as they stood face to face, but the expression of her worn features was unchanged. She went into the shed and returned with a pail. The man who had come out of the past seemed in no haste to rejoin his wife in the car nor did he hear her when she called to him. He was gazing at the shabby old house and at the apple orchard beyond. His demeanor was curiously abstracted. His eyes were grave but his smile had a boyish sweetness as he said:

"This fine old place has run down. Too bad. I remember it years ago. A family named Brent lived here then. Do you know what became of them?"

"Dead and gone," replied Harriet. "You can see the stones in the little burying ground at the edge of the orchard."

"Yes, it was a long time ago. There was a daughter, a very lovely girl. I met her one summer, when I was a boy. Married, I suppose, and a grandmother by now?"

"She has gone, too, so I've heard say," steadily answered Harriet in a low voice. Her hand pulled the edges of the shawl together and remained there to rest on her heart. "Yes, the girl you used to know has gone from here."

His wife spoke impatiently. He turned with a start. Presently the car rolled away from the house by the road. He glanced back, more than once. From behind the ancient lilac bush, Harriet Brent watched the car vanish. Then she clasped her hands and murmured, in prayer:

"Oh, thank God he didn't know me. But he remembered—and he loved to remember. He was loving the girl that has gone. I didn't expect anything could ever make me so happy."

She went into the house and kindled a blaze in the huge fireplace of the sitting-room. By its glow she sat with folded hands, while the red coals covered the dead ashes. Her face was no longer harsh and unlovely. The bright wings of romance had brushed

TIGHT FEELING

Stomach Troubles Relieved by the Aid of Black-Draught.

Telling how he obtained relief from very disagreeable symptoms of stomach trouble, Mr. Charles T. Wintz, of R. F. D. 4, Huntington, W. Va., made the following statement:

"I began taking Black-Draught about fifteen years ago. I would have gas on my stomach that just pressed and seemed to shorten my breath, and I would have all kinds of feeling. My head would ache and I was in a very bad fix.

"I had tried remedies that didn't seem to do me any good. I saw Black-Draught advertised and sent for it.

"After taking a few doses, I knew it was helping me. It seemed to break up the gas, and the tight, bloated feeling disappeared, and I was like a new man. I would not be without Black-Draught. I can eat anything I want to. If I get distress in the head, Black-Draught relieves it."

MOTHER OF TEXAS IS CALLED BY DEATH

AUSTIN WOMAN, 94, WHO WAS HERE IN EARLY DAYS, TO BE BURIED TUESDAY

Austin, Tex., March 22.—The body of Mrs. Rebecca Jane Fisher, 96, "mother of Texas" who died here Sunday night, will lie in state in the Senate chamber of the State House. The body will be placed on a bier Tuesday in the famous hall, adorned with paintings of historical events, where passed before this Texas pioneer's eyes.

The Texas flag flew at half staff in honor of this famous woman who lived to see the 90th anniversary of the Texas declaration of Independence from Mexico, March 2, 1836.

The body will lie in state from 10 a. m. Tuesday to 2 p. m. and at 3 o'clock funeral services will be held. Place of interment has not yet been decided upon.

Born in Philadelphia in 1830, she came to Texas with her parents when still a child, settled in Galveston and later in Refugio county. Her parents met death at the hands of Indians and she and her brother, William, were carried away captives. Pressed by a band of soldiers, the Indians wounded the children and left them for dead, to be later picked up and revived by their rescuers. Mrs. Fisher told the story of this adventure on her last birthday, recalling the 86 year old incident with remarkable clearness of memory.

After being reared by relatives, the young pioneer was married in 1846 to the Rev. Orceuth Fisher, a Methodist preacher. The later filled pastorates in Texas, Oregon and California, his young wife entering enthusiastically into his work. They returned to Texas from the coast in 1872, settling in Austin. Dr. Fisher died a number of years ago.

Mrs. Fisher was a charter member of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, a patriotic organization designed to foster the ideals of the Texas pioneers and preserve the traditions of the republic. Two years ago she was elected president of the organization for the thirtieth time. She was the only woman ever elected to membership in the Texas Veterans Association and was its last member to be called by death. Her portrait was the first of a woman to be hung in the Texas Senate chamber.

SUCCESS IN AMERICA
AN OPEN HIGHWAY

How Four Boys of Humble Origin
Have Become Chiefs of the Greatest Financial Organization in the World.

Broad highways of achievement are wide open to all in America no matter how humble their beginning. It is brought out by a writer in Forbes Magazine, telling of the successive elevation of poor boys to the chieftainship of the most powerful association of financial power in the world.

"Nowhere is opportunity so democratic as in caste-free America, nowhere is recognition for faithful service so little conditioned by inherited position and wealth," the article says. "The bounty of America in bestowing her rewards of great success upon those of modest origin is again notably manifest in the rise of Oscar Wells to the presidency of the American Bankers Association.

"The son of a tanner, John H. Fuellecher, was elected to this eminence in 1922. Circumstances ended his public schooling in the seventh year and he went to work in a carpet store in Milwaukee. At sixteen he entered a bank as a clerk, rising step by step until he became president. Recognition of his abilities as a banker and civic service through public education in sound economic understanding brought him the highest reward from his profession.

"A former country school teacher, Walter W. Head, born in a farm hamlet in Western Illinois, was elected president of the association in 1923. He gave up teaching and a salary of $75 to enter banking at $40 a month in a small Missouri town. He subsequently became president of a bank in Omaha, the largest in Nebraska and a dozen neighboring states. The position he occupied in advancing agricultural welfare during the period of depression led to his being called the 'Granger President of the American Bankers Association.'

"From Irish immigrant lad to supreme head of banking in America epitomizes the career of William E. Knox, president of one of the largest savings banks of the country in New York. His business career began as an office boy in a publishing house, and he later entered the bank as a clerk. Experience with humble people in their problems of personal finance and his inculcation of economy in all matters attracted country-wide attention.

"Oscar Wells, who rises in 1925 as successor of these men, was born in an old weather-boarded log cabin house in the Missouri River bottoms of Platte County, Missouri. He became an orphan when three years of age, losing his parents in an epidemic that ravaged the countryside. He passed under the care of an uncle, head of a small country bank in Platte City, a town of a few hundred inhabitants, growing up on a farm and receiving his early education in a rural school. He later entered Bethany College, West Virginia, but at the end of his junior year he had to quit college and go to work in the bank."

His subsequent career was one of steady progress, first to higher positions among small country banks, then to larger city banks in Texas, where he rose to the top. In 1914 he was chosen first governor of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank and served through the opening period of the establishment of that institution. He resigned to become president of a bank in Birmingham, Alabama, which has grown under his administration to be one of the largest and most successful institutions in the South.

HUGE GROWTH IN SCHOOL SAVINGS

New York.—School savings in the United States for the year 1924-1925 increased in aggregate bank balances by $5,500,000, with a growth of 630,000 in the total number of pupils participating, it is shown in reports made to the American Bankers Association, which declares that the returns encourage belief in the permanence of school savings as a part of the educational program in the public schools.

During the year the number of reporting school savings systems increased from 683 in 742 districts to 769 in 1,557 districts, the number of schools from 9,080 to 10,163, the number of pupils participating from 2,236,326 to 2,869,497, the deposits from $14,991,535.40 to $16,961,560.72 and the bank balances from $20,435,144.64 to $25,913,431.15, says W. E. Albright, in charge of the Association's savings activities.

Since 1920, the first year for which comprehensive statistics are available, the number of schools having school savings banking has increased 271.4 per cent, the enrollment in school savings districts 278.9 per cent, participants 520.2 per cent, deposits 506.1 per cent and bank balances 516.3 per cent.

LUNCHEON FOR TEACHERS AND OFFICERS

Every teacher and officer will be expected to be present for the monthly teacher's and officers meeting of the Sunday School. This meeting is to be held Thursday evening, March 25 in the Sunday School Annex. Lunch will be served by the officers and teachers of the Beginner and Primary Departments.

In the last meeting of the Teachers and Officers Charles McGehee was elected sponsor of these meetings. Mr. McGehee is a young man and is very enthusiastic and efficient in Sunday School work. We expect under his direction a real success to be made in this department of our work. Following is the program arranged by him. He will preside at this meeting.

Program

1. Roll call by Departments. Each Secretary and organized Class Secretary and General Secretary giving their respective reports for the last month.
2. Shall We Reach the Standard of Excellence in Our Sunday School?—Mr. Cable.
3. The Real Sunday School Problem—Mrs. J. L. Denson.
4. Shall We Be Represented at the State Sunday School Convention?

- (1) Mr. DuBois.
- (2) Bro. Hutcherson.
5. Remarks from the Study Course Supervisor—Miss Alice McGehee.
6. Any Suggestions or Matters of Business.
7. Departmental Conferences.

STUDY COURSE

The Study Course recently taken proved very interesting and a large number have taken the examination. However, it will be necessary for still others who are now holding official places in our Sunday School to take the examination in order for us to reach the A-1 Standard. There are enough who have taken this course to bring us to the Standard, but quite a good number who have taken the course are not officials in the school. We are delighted that they have taken this work but that does not lessen the necessity for those whom the church have honored with responsible places. Thursday night at the meeting of the Sunday School forces will close the extended time on this work. If we reach the Standard 15 others must bear their part of the load. Following are the names of those who have already taken the examination:

Mrs. Dan Gunn, Mrs. Wm. Henderson, Mrs. S. M. Burns, Sr., C. D. McGehee, Mrs. E. S. Hutcherson, Ludie Law, Mrs. Don Slocumb, Susie Bell Aycock, Mrs. J. L. Denson, Mrs. J. D. Dobbins, Clara Thomas, W. E. Kuehl, Mrs. W. E. Kuehl, Lil Jeter, Mrs. Preston Graves, Mrs. J. E. Bell, W. V. Fancher, Ray Burke, Mrs. Harve Dobbins, C. L. Boone, O. H. Griffin, Mrs. W. H. Henley and P. S. Graves.

OUR FINANCES

After next Sunday our Church Treasurer will mail you a statement showing how much you have contributed to the Church this year. If you made a pledge he will render a statement showing whether or not you are paid up to date. If you did not make a pledge you do not want your statement to appear blank, therefore, bring an offering next Sunday in your individual envelope and let it go on the book in your name.

Over the State and the Southland Baptists are in a drive now for a great collection of money for the Lord's causes. We as a Church will fit into this program. However, we will not take a special collection as we are operating quite satisfactorily on the budget plan which is the Bible plan. We will put forth a special effort in the month of April to secure an offering from everyone of our members for the Church, then it has been agreed by the Finance Committee that we will strike an average of the three months January, February and March. All above the average of the three months that we get in in the month of April will go as a special offering from this church. Help us to make it unanimous. Every member of the church making an offering to the church in the month of April is our goal.

B. Y. P. U. STUDY COURSE

Last Sunday evening in the Young People's Meeting they decided to take the B. Y. P. U. Manuel. Monday the 29th was the day set to begin the Course. It is expected that a large number of our young people will take that Course in order that they may be better prepared for carrying on the young people's work. It will only take one hour each day. We will begin promptly at 7 o'clock each evening.

The Cotton Outlook

The demand for the 1926 crop of cotton probably will not be sufficient to absorb a crop as large as that of 1925 except at reduced prices. Costs of production will probably be about the same as in 1925 and growers would do well to proceed with care when planning their acreage for the present year. For the past two seasons the rate of world production of cotton has exceeded the rate of world consumption with the result that stocks are not yet burdensome as a whole, further material increases might easily make them so. The conditions under which the new crop will be marketed are somewhat uncertain but there is no marked indication that the mill demand will exceed that of the present season.—U. S. GEORGE B. TERRELL IS CANDIDATE RE-ELECTION

STANDS ON RECORD AND DEMANDS CONSOLIDATIONS
IN DEPARTMENT

To the Democratic Voters of Texas: I am announcing my candidacy for re-election and submitting my official record for approval in the primaries. I desire to thank the voters for the confidence imposed in me and to assure them that I will be as faithful in the future as in the past in the discharge of the duties of the office.

Texas is the greatest agricultural state in the Union and should have a strong, well equipped Department of Agriculture to administer all the agricultural laws of the State, instead of having the administration of these laws scattered among several appointive boards and commissions, dividing responsibility, lessening efficiency, and increasing the cost of administration. All other agricultural states have the agricultural laws administered by the Department of Agriculture, and why should Texas have her agricultural work scattered all over the State in order to make more jobs for more people?

The National Association of Commissioners of Agriculture and the Association of Land Grant Colleges recommend that the administration of laws relating to agriculture should be under the Department of Agriculture, the Legislative Investigating Committee of 191 recommended this plan of unifying the agricultural work and every organization that has considered the matter has made the same recommendation. Of course, this plan would knock down a few political playhouses and cause some people to lose their jobs, but the people should not be taxed in order to retain places for pie eaters.

The cost of administering the Department of Agriculture for the year closing August 31, 1920, before I took charge of the work in January 1921, was $142,574.50, exclusive of the pink bollworm appropriation. Since that time the work has been conducted on an average annual expenditure of $79,780.13, exclusive of the pink bollworm work. This is an average of $62,794.38 less than it cost the year before I became Commissioner.

I have been a strong advocate of unifying the agricultural work of the State in the interest of efficiency and economy. The last Legislature consolidated the work of the Markets and Warehouse Department with the Department of Agriculture effective September 1st, 1925. The two departments under separate management had an appropriation of $170,795. for the past fiscal year. Under the consolidated management we have an appropriation of $107,440 for the present fiscal year, or a difference of $63,350. a year and we will not spend more than is appropriated. This consolidation eliminated eighteen people from the payroll, and the work is being carried on without any loss of efficiency, which fact ought to prove the value of consolidations in the interest of efficiency and economy. These people who lost their jobs will probably oppose me,—at least, one of them, who failed to get a job after the consolidation, is a candidate against me, and the others will likely support him.

The taxpayers are the gainers by these consolidations, and I expect to advocate still further consolidations, because they are right in principle and sound and economical in practice. I submit my candidacy upon the record I have made and the principles for which I stand and am willing to trust the verdict of the people at the polls.

Chevrolet Delivers 32,504 Cars In Feb. Largest Number

Chevrolet dealers in February delivered 32,504 cars, the largest number ever sold in that month in the history of the company.

The quota set for the thirty sales zones of the company was 22,002 cars, a nestimate based on a conservative examination of the prospective February demands. When the total sales for the month were tabulated it was found that the increase in sales was 147.7 per cent of the quota.

Despite decided increases made in the quota set for February it was found the zones had practically all exceeded their allotments.

In January every sales zone exceeded its quota, ranging from 112.9 per cent in the Jacksonville zone to 275.4 per cent in the Omaha zone.

$10,000.00 FOR FIVE MINUTES

Would you be willing to sell your next five minutes of time for $10,000?
Maybe you can. And you don't have to be lucky or brilliant to do it, either. All you need is a little imagination, coupled with initiative to carry out the thoughts and plans this next five minutes can bring you.

In the life of every man and woman there comes an hour when he or she must make a decision regarding the future. Millions of them never recognize that time when it comes. They make their decision without giving it any particular thought. They do not use their God-given power of imagination—the power to look ahead and visualize the future. They do not realize the years ahead are to be weary years—or happy years—as a result of what they are doing. Blindly they go ahead, stumbling their way thru life, ending in failure.

If these men and women—the failures—had just taken a little time to think things over, to visualize the future, to see where their decision would lead them, they might easily have changed the whole course of their lives. It might have shown them how by changing their plans, they could have begun careers which would have led on and up to the very heights of fame, fortune and success.

This five minutes can be that all important time of your life. Look into your own future and ask yourself what are you going to be, what you can be if you enter the battle of life just as you are. Examine the lives of others who have made the start with the same mental and physical equipment you enjoy.

In all probability, you will be filled with a healthy discontentment with yourself—with a desire and ambition to fit yourself for a bigger, finer future. If it does and you have the bigger future, then this five minutes initiative to carry out your plans for a will have been worth more than $10,000 to you.

More than 50,000 young men and women have stood at the same crossroads where you are now standing trying to see ahead. They made that decision—the choice of a career—and let Tyler Commercial College, America's largest business training school prepare them for the big positions they are now holding. Tyler Commercial College will train you, too.

LAND OF THE SHINING MOUNTAINS

By Hugh V. Haddock

There are some who grow lonesome for cities,
And some who may yearn for the seas,
And some who are hungry for prairies,
And some who want forests of trees,
I may never look on the ocean,
And a city is nothing but noise,
And a prairie is flat, so I'm lonesome
For the hills and their steadying poise.

There's a range that lies over the sky line,
Far west of the edge of the plain,
That glistens and glints in the sunlight,
Like the gems in a giant's chain.
It's the range of the Shining Mountains,
And its voice calls to me, through the haze
That hangs over the city around me,
Through the length of the drifting days.

It whispers at night, when all's silent,
That the stars that I see, glowing dim,
Are brighter out there in the valleys,
Just over the barriers rim.
And it speaks through the days noisy tumult,
Saying low that the haze which I brook
In the town, is sky blue in the mountains,
With the breath of the warm chinook.

And I know that the voice tells me truly,
As it speaks in its sweet, haunting way,
How the trout are a-leap in the river,
Through all of the sun-lighted day;
I have tried to pretend I'm contented,
But I'm not—so I'm taking the trail
To the land of the Shining Mountains,
And a cliff-hedged and pine-grown vale.

Comptroller of Public Accounts, I desire to say that during the campaign in 1924 I made the race for Comptroller based on my ability and qualifications to give the people of this great State a real business administration.

During the first year of my administration, from January to January, there was collected and paid into the Treasury of Texas, from all sources other than Ad Valorem Taxes, over $2,250,000.00 more than was collected by this department for the same time the previous year, all of said amount having been collected by and through the Auditing Division of this department.

There have been no radical changes made in handling of the affairs of this Department, but the above results have been achieved solely by hard work and good discipline on the part of the employees of the office.

We are at all times mindful of the fact that this office belongs to the tax payers of the State, and not to any one individual, body, or organization. We have strived to fulfill our promise made to the voters in the previous campaign, and if re-elected to a second term will continue to give our best efforts towards a business administration of the peoples business.

SUCCESS IN AMERICA
AN OPEN HIGHWAYHow Four Boys of Humble Origin
Have Become Chiefs of the Greatest Financial Organization in the World.

Broad highways of achievement are wide open to all in America no matter how humble their beginning. It is brought out by a writer in Forbes Magazine, telling of the successive elevation of poor boys to the chief-ship of the most powerful association of financial power in the world.

"Nowhere is opportunity so democratic as in caste-free America, nowhere is recognition for faithful service so little conditioned by inherited position and wealth," the article says.
"The bounty of America in bestowing her rewards of great success upon those of modest origin is again notably manifest in the rise of Oscar Wells to the presidency of the American Bankers Association."

"The son of a tanner, John H.
Fuellicher, was elected to this eminence in 1923. Circumstances ended his public schooling in the seventh year and he went to work in a carpet store in Milwaukee. At sixteen he entered a bank as a clerk, rising step by step until he became president.
Recognition of his abilities as a banker and civic service through public education in sound economic understanding brought him the highest reward from his profession."

"A former country school teacher, Walter W. Head, born in a farm hamlet in Western Illinois, was elected president of the association in 1923.
He gave up teaching and a salary of $75 to enter banking at $40 a month in a small Missouri town. He subsequently became president of a bank in Omaha, the largest in Nebraska and a dozen neighboring states. The position he occupied in advancing agricultural welfare during the period of depression led to his being called the 'Granger President of the Ameri-
can Bankers Association.'"

"From Irish immigrant lad to supreme head of banking in America
epitomizes the career of William E.
Knox, president of one of the largest savings banks of the country in New York. His business career began as an office boy in a publishing house, and he later entered the bank as a clerk. Experience with humble people in their problems of personal finance and his inculcation of economy in all matters attracted country-wide attention."

"Oscar Wells, who rises in 1925 as successor of these men, was born in an old weather-boarded log cabin house in the Missouri River bottoms of Platte County, Missouri. He became an orphan when three years of age, losing his parents in an epidemic that ravaged the countryside. He passed under the care of an uncle, head of a small country bank in Platte City,
a town of a few hundred inhabitants, growing up on a farm and receiving his early education in a rural school.
He later entered Bethany College, West Virginia, but at the end of his junior year he had to quit college and go to work in the bank."

His subsequent career was one of steady progress, first to higher positions among small country banks,
then to larger city banks in Texas,
where he rose to the top. In 1914 he was chosen first governor of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank and served through the opening period of the establishment of that institution.
He resigned to become president of a bank in Birmingham, Alabama, which has grown under his administration to be one of the largest and most successful institutions in the South.

HUGE GROWTH IN SCHOOL SAVINGS

New York.—School savings in the United States for the year 1924-1925 increased in aggregate bank balances by $5,500,000, with a growth of 630,000 in the total number of pupils participating. It is shown in reports made to the American Bankers Association, which declares that the returns encourage belief in the permanence of school savings as a part of the educational program in the public schools.

During the year the number of reporting school savings systems increased from 633 in 742 districts to 760 in 1,557 districts, the number of schools from 9,050 to 10,163, the number of pupils participating from 2,236, 226 to 2,869,497, the deposits from $14,991,535.40 to $16,961,560.72 and the bank balances from $20,435,144.64 to $25,913,431.15, says W. B. Albright, in charge of the Association's savings activities.

Since 1920, the first year for which comprehensive statistics are available,
the number of schools having school savings banking has increased 271.4 per cent, the enrollment in school savings districts 278.9 per cent, participants 520.2 per cent, deposits 506.1 per cent and bank balances 516.3 per cent.

Talking to the People

That is exactly what you do when you put your message in the Cameron Herald—Largest Newspaper in Milam County.

On a recent test more than 5000 people were brought to Cameron for an entertainment when The Herald was the only newspaper in which advertising or news mention appeared.

It is no longer practical to conduct a profitable business and meet competition unless a liberal use is made of newspaper advertising.

Circular advertising does not measure up to the standard of the newspaper column. That is why advertising in increasing volume is being placed with the country press throughout the nation. These messages go to the folks who live in the rural districts who do not read the dailies.

For 25c per column inch of advertising space you can talk to TEN THOUSAND people each week through the columns of The Herald. This family of readers is a rich field to be exploited by the merchant who wants to expand his business and increase its volume and profits.

SMOTHERING

Texas Lady Tells How She Got Rid of Her Troubles.

"The first time I took Cardui, I was in an awful bad way," says Mrs. Ora Carlile, R. F. D. 5, Troup, Texas.

"I was afflicted with awful smothering spells. My mother had some Cardui in the house that she was taking, so she immediately began giving it to me. In a few days I got all right."

"Last fall I got run-down in health. I was weak and puny and I began to suffer with... I would get so I could hardly walk. Having taken Cardui before, I sent to the store for a bottle of it."

"Almost from the first dose I could feel the improvement... I am much better now."

"Cardui has helped me a lot and I am glad to recommend it. I don't feel like the same woman I was last fall."

"My appetite is good now, and I'm sure it's Cardui that's made it pick up, for in the fall I had no relish for food at all, while now I'm hungry for my meals."

BANKERS SURVEY STATE BANK LAWS

Find That Movement for State Guaranty of Bank Has Gone Into Eclipse.

New York.—A survey of state banking laws conducted by the State Bank Division of the American Bankers Association shows marked progress toward greater uniformity and more efficient bank supervision. It is declared by Frank W. Simmonds, in charge of the division, in a statement giving the results of the investigation. He says that the movement for state guaranty of bank deposits appears to have gone into eclipse.

"The division has urged that the office of bank commissioner be freed from politics and all other functions of state government and tenure be made more secure with sufficient compensation and discretion to attract men of outstanding ability," Mr. Simmonds says. "Gratifying progress has been made during the past year in important bank legislation in many states. Idaho, Wyoming and Oregon led the list by adopting entirely new modern banking codes, while Texas and Montana have new codes in preparation."

Uniformity Among State Laws

"The survey shows that it is generally agreed there should be a high degree of uniformity among the states in laws dealing with certain fundamental principles of bank organization, regulation and supervision, and that there is a strong tendency in this direction. We find a very definite trend toward increasing the minimum capital requirements of banks to $25,000; creation of banking boards to act in an advisory capacity with the state bank commissioner, and legislation empowering bank commissioners to take complete charge of insolvent banks and to liquidate them as distinguished from liquidation through the courts."

"We find also a trend toward legislation providing for closer supervision and regulation of building and loan associations; more equitable taxation of bank stock; legislation providing for merger, conversion or consolidation of banking institutions; the legalizing and regulating of what is known as 'departmental banking'; broadening the field for investment of funds of saving banks and trust companies, and increasing the power of the bank commissioner as to granting or denying charters for new banks, and authorizing his making reasonable rules and regulations governing bank management and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof."

"Additional general characteristics of state bank legislation are for increasing the compensation of the bank commissioner and lengthening his term of office of four, five or six years, with power to appoint necessary deputies and examiners; legislation providing for the reduction of mandatory bank calls to three and reducing the number of examinations required by law annually to one; making issuance of worthless checks a misdemeanor; limiting or prohibiting an officer or director of a bank borrowing from his bank unless his collateral is approved by a majority of the board of directors, and limiting or prohibiting the opening of branch banks."

Eclipse of Guaranty Movement

"The question of state guaranty of bank deposits appears this year to have passed into an eclipse, so far as the extension of the idea is concerned, notwithstanding the fact that state guaranty laws were recommended by the governors of two states, and bills were introduced in several of the states, all of which were defeated. The general tendency, so far as state guaranty of deposits laws are concerned, is distinctly the other way, the indications being that several states now having guaranty laws are trying to free themselves from this legislation. Oklahoma has abandoned the plan of state guaranty of deposits, and this year the South Dakota legislature has repealed the state guaranty law and has referred the repeal to the people at the next general election for ratification."

BANKERS RAISE FUND OF $500,000 FOR EDUCATION

A fund of $500,000 to endow scholarships and research in economics in American colleges was recently established by the American Bankers Association in celebration of its Golden Anniversary. The intention of the Foundation is to promote education in the direction of sounder general economic understanding. Half the total sum represents subscriptions by the American Bankers Association, the American Institute of Banking and individual bankers, and the other half quotas assigned to bankers in each state. The Association gave $50,000 from its reserve funds, and the American Institute of Banking, through individual subscriptions from its members, who are chiefly clerks in the banks, subscribed $25,000. Numerous subscriptions of $5,000, $2,500 and $1,000 each were made by individual bankers in all parts of the country.

Not So Bad
The old lady was being ferried across the river for the first time.
"Has any one ever been lost in crossing this stream?" she asked timidly.
"No, ma'am," drawled the ferryman.

"My brother was drowned last week, but they found him the next day."

Dinner's Ready

The little girl was in the country for the first time. The chickens were raising a fuss, so she asked her grand daddy what the matter with them was.
"Oh they are hungry and are asking for their dinner."

"If they are so hungry why don't they lay themselves an egg?"

JAMES W. BASS TELLS HOW AUTO TAX IS CUT

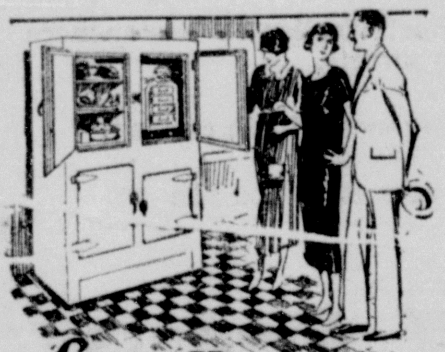

REVENUE ACT REPEAL LOWERS
MANUFACTURERS TAX

Under the Revenue Act of 1924 the Manufacturer's Excise tax on passenger automobiles, passenger automobile chassis and bodies is at the rate of 5 per cent of the price for which such articles are sold by the manufacturer, producer or importer.

Under the act of 1926 which takes effect with respect to this subdivision of the law on March 29, 1926, the rate will be 3 per cent.

This difference in rate of 2 per cent is refundable on all passenger automobiles, passenger automobile chassis and bodies on hand and intended for sale at the beginning of business March 29, 1926. This applies only where a tax of 5 per cent has been paid by the manufacturer. All dealers, manufacturers, producers and importers who desire to place their claims in line for adjustment should apply at once to the Collector of Internal Revenue for blank inventory and claim forms and instructions for preparing claims.

The tax on automobile truck and wagon chassis and bodies, tires, inner tubes, parts, accessories, cameras and lenses, photographic films and plates, firearms (except pistols and revolvers) shells, and cartridges, cigar or cigarette holders, pipes and humidors, coin-operated devices, machines, etc., mah-jong, pung chow and similar tile sets and component parts, has been repealed effective February 26, 1926.

Applications Should Made At Once For Citizens Training

Milam County has annually contributed a large quota of young men to the Citizens' military training camp at San Antonio and the following announcement from Maj. Gen. Ernest Hinds will be of interest:

According to an announcement yesterday by Maj. Gen. Ernest Hinds, Commanding General, Eighth Corps Area, those interested in attending the Citizens' Military Training Camps this summer should apply right away.

The General stated that altho the enrollment campaign has only been in progress for about a month, over 1200 applications have already been received. To be sure of receiving consideration before the quota is filled any young man who contemplates attendance should apply without delay. Camps will be held this year at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas, July 6 to August 4; Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, July 9 to August 7; Ft. Crockett, Texas, July 1 to 30; Ft. Logan, Colorado, July 1 to 30; Ft. Huachuca, Arizona, July 15 to August 13; Ft. Bliss, Texas, July 22 to August 20.

Any young man, between the ages of 17 and 31 years, who is interested in becoming a better citizen, improving himself morally, mentally and physically, should, unless he wants to be disappointed, write at once to the Chief of Staff, Organized Reserves, 90th Division at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas; 95th Division at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; 105rd Division at Denver, Colorado or the C. M. T. C. Officer, Eighth Corps Area, Ft. When Capt. White Was Buried At His Somerville Home

Somerville, Texas, March 20.—Thru a heavy rain, which through the day had made the roads and streets almost impassible, hundreds of his friends stood for three hours to hear the last rites which committed back to dust the body of Captain Garrett A. White, Company H, 143rd Infantry, National Guard, who on Saturday March 13, at 8 a. m., was shot by W. S. Houston, in front of 'Tompkins' store as White was on his way to open up his pharmacy.

The last rites were carried with full military honors, supplemented with words of the preacher, at the house, and in conjunction with the I. O. O. F. at the graveside. Without doubt this was the largest funeral ever held in this community. Had the roads been passable, military companies, and civilians would have attended from all towns in this part of the state.

White, an overseas soldier, having served the whole period of the war, was elected constable of this precinct in July 1924, and since that time the town of Somerville has felt secure from violence, because of its faith in a man who was fearless, yet standing out boldly for righteousness at all times.

The statements circulating before and after his death that he was an enemy to the negro and Mexican was clearly refuted, when nearly the entire population of these races in the town passed by the bier and in words coming from the heart and with tears streaming from their eyes, they said, "A good man."

Drink Water If Kidneys Bother

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Pains or Bladder is Irritated

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids; to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

CAMERON PENALIZED FOR BAD FIRE RECORD

CREDITS LOST THROUGH DIS-ASTROUS FIRES TO COST
MAN YTHOUSANDS

Fire losses over a period of three years have cost Cameron its credit of 15 per cent earned by a good record prior to 1923, according to information contained in the following from the department of insurance at Austin:

A statement showing that the loss ratio of Cameron, for the years 1923, 1924 and 1925 is .879 has been filed with and has been checked and approved by the State Fire Insurance Commission, under the provisions for charge for bad fire record of cities and towns shown on pages 27 and 28 of the 1922 edition of the Texas General Basis Schedules, this record subjects Cameron to a charge of 15 per cent which local agents are to add to the final Rate on all policies written on, or after March 1, 1926, to February 28, 1927, only, and covering property located within the corporate limits of Cameron.

Policies taking effect prior to

March 1, 1926, are not affected or to be disturbed, except by cancellation in strict accordance with the terms and conditions of the policy.

This does not apply to policies written on or after March 1, 1927.

WHAT MY NEIGHBOR SAYS
Is Of Interest To Cameron Folks

When one has had the misfortune to suffer from backache, headaches, dizziness, urinary disorders and other kidney ills—and has found relief from all this sickness and suffering, that person's advice is of untold value to friends and neighbors. The following case is only one of many thousands, but it is that of a Cameron resident. Who could ask for a better example?

Mrs. O. C. Wilson, 824 Washington St. says: "My back ached and at times it was so lame I felt as though I had been beaten. Bending or stooping sent sharp, shooting pains thru the small of my back and it seemed impossible for me to straighten. Spells of dizziness often came over me and my kidneys acted often. Nights found me worn out and irritable and often my feet were swollen. After using Doan's Pills from the New Cameron Drug Company, my kidney trouble was ended."
